

Didi Sudesh, Germany

Didi Sudesh, born in 1942, has been interested in social service since the days of her childhood. Raised in a spiritual family, she was educated in all the scriptures of India, and went on to attain her Bachelor of Arts Degree in Political Science at Punjab University in Delhi. During this time, (at the tender age of 16), Didi also completed a short term post as Head Mistress of a Girls School. Motivated by the feeling to always do more, and to not be of service on merely a gross level, Didi ultimately encountered The Brahma Kumaris World Spiritual University (BKWSU), in 1957. Following the inspirations she received there, she realised that her true desire was to serve humanity as a spiritual social worker.

It wasn't long after this that Didi became an instrument to open many BKWSU sub centers and spiritual museums in Delhi and surrounding areas. She moved on to become the instrument responsible for Teacher Training at the centers in Delhi as well as the Headquarters of the institution in Mt. Abu, Rajasthan. A deeply inspiring and articulate speaker, she also began participating in a wide variety of public programs, conferences and seminars - an agenda that took her on extensive tours around the whole of India.

In 1974, Didi was sent to England, becoming part of the small group of founding members of western service. Shortly after her arrival, she became Director of the BKWSU service outreach within the United Kingdom, a duty which thoroughly acknowledges her ability to transfer to the West, the profound spiritual experience of the East. Since then she has traveled to over 72 countries, lecturing extensively on all facets of spirituality and its practical application in every day life. The proliferation of BKWSU centers around the world are, in part, a testimony to the benefit that people from all cultures have derived from the teachings she shares so tirelessly.

Transferred to Germany in 1996, Didi is currently acting as Director of all the BKWSU centers there and in Europe. A yogini of over 45 years, Didi is a living demonstration of the spirituality she strives to impart; a powerful inspiration to all who meet her.
